ORAL JUDGEMENT

The petitioner-detenu has preferred this petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for appropriate writ, order or direction for quashing and setting aside an order dated 30.9.2003 passed by respondent No.1 under section 3(2) of the Gujarat Prevention of Anti-social Activities At, 1985 (for short, 'the PASA Act') directing detention of the present petitioner on the ground that seven offences were registered against the petitioner during the period from 13.9.2002 to 29.8.2003 and two unnamed witnesses had given statements against the petitioner stating that the petitioner was guilty of violating 'public order'. The petitioner was arrested on the date of the order itself and he is under detention since then. The petitioner has challenged the aforesaid order of the detention on various grounds. It has been contended that the petitioner has not committed any violation of public order and that the order has been passed against the petitioner without proper application of mind. That therefore, the order of detention is illegal and deserves to be set aside. The petitioner has, therefore, prayed that the impugned order of detention be set aside and the petitioner may be set at liberty forthwith.

2. On receiving the petition, rule was issued and in response to the service of notice of rule, Ms. Mita Panchal, learned AGP has appeared. She has also submitted affidavit of the detaining officer which is taken on record. At the stage of final hearing, learned Advocate for the petitioner has argued that though seven offences have been registered against the petitioner during the period from September, 2002 to August 2003, and though two unnamed persons appear to have given some statements against the petitioner, the petitioner is not shown to be a person who could be treated to be dangerous person or a person who has committed violation of public order and, therefore, the detaining authority ought not to have passed the order in question directing his detention in terms of the said order.

3. On going through the detention order dated 30.9.2003 placed at page no.15, it is found that seven offences have been registered against the petitioner during the aforesaid period. They all related to the offences punishable under section 66(1)(B), 65 (E) and section 81 of Bombay Prohibition Act.

4. On this aspect of the case, we may simply refer to a decision dated 26.2.2004 of this Court in Special Civil Application No.16542/2003 (Coram: Hon'ble Mr Justice N G Nandi) Considering the above decision, it is very clear that even if the allegations made against the petitioner are taken to be true as they stand, the alleged activities of the petitioner may amount to a threat to law and order situation and it would not amount to a threat to public order. The order of detention can be passed only if there is a threat to public order and such an order cannot be passed if it amounts to a threat to law and order situation. Since the said requirement is not there in this case, the order of the detention passed against the petitioner cannot be sustained in the eye of law. In other words, the impugned detention order is required to be quashed and set aside.

5. For the foregoing reason, this petition is allowed. The impugned impugned order dated 30.9.2003 passed under Section 3(2) of the PASA Act detaining the present petitioner, is ordered to be set aside. The detenu is ordered to be set at liberty forthwith, if no longer required in any other case.

Rule is made absolute to the aforesaid extent. No order as to costs. D.S. permitted.
